

THE AI BESTIE

AI tutorials even your mom can understand

LESSON 21

Spot the AI Scammer.

AI can now copy your voice from a few seconds of video. So the next call your mom gets might sound exactly like you. Send this to your parents.

3 signs

How to tell it's a scammer, fast.

1 easy fix

Hang up. Call back. Done.

1 code word

No code word, no money. Ever.

Here's what scams look like now

A scammer takes a few seconds of your voice from one of your videos. AI makes it say anything. So your mom gets a call. It's you. Crying. "Mom, I'm in trouble. Please send money." It sounds like you. It is not you.

Honestly? I would fall for it. I cry at insurance ads. So this is not about being smart. It's about having a plan before the call comes.

Mom, Dad, this part is for you

Three signs it's a scammer. You only need to spot one.

They rush you

"Right now. Do not tell anyone." Scammers need you panicking, not thinking. Real family can wait five minutes. Scammers cannot.

They want money in a weird way

Gift cards. Crypto. A brand new bank account. Nobody in real trouble asks for a stack of gift cards.
your real grandkids ask for snacks, not gift cards.

They dodge questions

Ask something only the real person would know. Like "What did we eat at Grandma's last Sunday?"
A scammer changes the subject, cries louder, or hangs up. Watch the lie fall apart.

The fix is so easy

Two moves. No tech needed. Works on every scam call, AI or not.

Hang up. Call back.

Hang up. It is not rude. It is smart. Then call back on the number you already have saved. Not the number that just called you. If it was really them, they pick up.

Pick a family code word, tonight

Something silly only your family knows, like "pineapple tart". Share it in person or on a call, never in a text. Then the rule is simple: no code word, no money.

not even for the favourite grandchild.

Scammer vs real family

Same voice. Totally different behaviour.

Scammer

Needs money right now.
Says keep it a secret.
Wants gift cards or crypto.
Dodges your questions.
Doesn't know the code word.

✖ hang up

VS

Real family

Can wait five minutes.
Fine with you telling everyone.
Asks for snacks, not gift cards.
Answers anything you ask.
Knows the code word.

✔ picks up when you call back

Every red flag, in one place

Spot even one of these? Hang up and call back.

They rush you
"Right now. Do not tell anyone." Real family can wait five minutes.

They want a secret
"Don't tell Dad." Real trouble is something the whole family helps with.

Weird way to pay
Gift cards, crypto, cash, or a brand new bank account.

They dodge questions
Ask something only the real person would know. Watch it fall apart.

They want your code
The code sent to your phone, or an app to install. Your bank never asks.

They cry. A lot.
Big feelings stop you from thinking. That is exactly the point.

Drop this in the family group chat

Tap the black box to copy. Paste it in the chat. That's it.

THE CHEAT SHEET

 copy

IS IT REALLY THEM? 5 signs it is a scam

1. They rush you. "Right now. Do not tell anyone."
2. They want it kept secret from the rest of the family.
3. They want gift cards, crypto, cash, or money sent to a new bank account.
4. They dodge questions only the real person would know.
5. They ask for a code sent to your phone (OTP), or ask you to install an app. Your bank will never ask for this.

WHAT TO DO

Hang up. It is not rude. It is smart.

Call back on the number you already have saved.

Ask for the family code word. No code word, no money.

Not sure? In Singapore, call the ScamShield Helpline 1799, any time, 24/7.

Already sent money? Call your bank right away.

Not sure? Ask for help. Any time.

In Singapore, call the ScamShield Helpline 1799, 24/7. Already sent money? Call your bank right away. The faster you call, the better the chance of getting it back.

it sounds like you. it is not you.

"Real family can wait five minutes. Scammers cannot."

· Wendy, your AI Bestie

Tonight's homework

Five minutes. Could save your family a lot more than that.

Pick your code word tonight.

Send this page to Mom, Dad, Grandma, Grandpa. Pick something silly. Say it out loud, together. Then no code word, no money.

comment SAFE and I'll send you the big-font cheat sheet